• ELOISE continues to accelerate southwest towards Mozambique and has now transformed into a severe tropical storm.
• Its landfall is expected on the evening of Friday, January 22, in the form of a tropical cyclone. But it is likely to reach the stage of an intense tropical cyclone.